UN SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

World Cleanup Day and the steps to be taken from there for a Clean World are directly addressing UN Sustainable Development Goals.

Tackling waste pollution, adopting sustainable waste management systems, redesigning and innovating for maximum material recovery will play a significant role in reaching the goals for sustainable development.

“TRASH BLINDNESS”

Means many people don't even SEE the litter, rubbish, and waste impacting
our communities and environment.

A world without waste is our dream.

In order to fully grasp the trash problem, we require reliable data on how much trash there is in the world - and we understood that there is no such database to collect this kind of data. And so the World Waste Platform was born. We have put together data from eight trash mapping apps, data compiled by Gray's Lab and we will continue this quest until all the trash is mapped.
